STATE'S CASE AGAINST PAIR IS COMPLETED

The Commonwealth at noon today completed its case in Adams County court against Cumberland Twp. Constable Fred Swisher, Gettysburg R. 1, charged with assault and battery on Kenneth Orndorff, and against Kenneth Orndorff, Gettysburg R. 5, charged with resisting arrest by Constable Swisher and assault and battery on Hayward McClellan, Barlow fireman.

District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter presented the cases against both of the men. This afternoon Attorney Edward B. Bulleit will conduct the defense for Swisher. Attorneys Donald M. Swope and Thomas Pyle will defend Orndorff.

All of the charges resulted from an incident at the Barlow Fire Company dance February 22 when Orndorff, at the urging of a cousin, attended the dance. He was there "about three minutes," according to testimony today. Orndorff went into a ladies' rest room—which had been designated as a men's rest room in November when Orndorff had made a prior visit to the dance hall. Several firemen and Constable Swisher ejected him with some struggle and sought to put him in a car, outside the building to take him to jail. During that process Swisher is alleged to have struck Orndorff with a blackjack.

Accounts Differ
Orndorff received a cut on the back of the head which required four stitches to close, a cut on the lip which required seven stitches to close and two front teeth were broken off, according to his testimony.

Hayward McClellan, Gettysburg R. 1, and several others claimed that when the 24-year-old Bonneauville resident went into the ladies' rest room and McClellan sought to eject him, Orndorff grabbed McClellan by the shirt and claimed no one could put him out.

Orndorff held he did not grasp McClellan by the shirt. Swisher said Orndorff "made a pass" at him and knocked his hat off. Several witnesses said Orndorff struck his head against the door of the rest room as he was being removed by several firemen and the constable.

Had Been Warned
All witnesses seemed agreed that McClellan had warned Orndorff before he entered that the rest rooms were for ladies. It was also agreed that, until about five weeks previously, the rest room had been for men.

Constable Swisher was in the dance room at the time Orndorff and McClellan entered the rest room and said he was called by McClellan to help him.

Among witnesses have been Constable Swisher, Fire Chief Bernard V. Miller, who testified to the location of the rest rooms and signs on the rest rooms, lighting facilities, etc.; George Lambert, Gettysburg R. 1, one of the fire police who helped eject Orndorff; Hayward McClellan; David Reaver, Gettysburg R. 1, another fire policeman; Herman Marling of the Barlow Fire Company; Kenneth Orndorff; Walter B. Lane, Gettysburg photo-

BOY, 15, STEALS NEWCAR, WRECKS IT IN 10 MINUTES

A 15-year-old Hanover juvenile was taken into custody Monday evening shortly after he had stolen a car at New Oxford at 4:45 o'clock and wrecked it at Abbottstown ten minutes later.

State police said the juvenile stole the car of Miss Dorothy Baugher, Lincolnway West, New Oxford, and then drove to Abbottstown. Just south of Abbottstown at Mt. Olivet Cemetery he lost control of the 1957 Ford station wagon, and it left the road, went into a field and struck a tree, causing $2,625 damage to the new vehicle.

The youth, suffering a laceration of the nose, fled from the vehicle on foot and was captured shortly afterward in a woods by state police and others attracted to the scene. Police brought him to the Warner Hospital for treatment before placing him in detention for an appearance before juvenile court.

The accident involving the stolen car was one of two investigated by state police Monday afternoon. At 6:15 o'clock they were called to the township route near the Lincoln Speedway four miles north of Hanover where Richard P. Mulien, 16, Hanover, traveling east, had failed to negotiate a curve and his 1954 car ran into a field and rolled over, causing $1,500 damage. The police listed no injuries to the youth.

Police removed Marjorie Jordan from the underground den yesterday after a neighbor found a penciled note asking for help. Her captor, John Bridal, 26, told reporters: "She was not brought here under force, but she needed some persuading. She was not enthusiastic but agreed to help me with my experiments. I did not keep her against her will, except for the first few days."

In a statement to detectives, however, Miss Jordan declared Bridal, a complete stranger, kidnapped her from her bedroom in a lodging house two miles from his home the night of Jan. 7. She said he taped her mouth,

Kiwanians Shown New England Film

A motion picture, "New England Portrait," was shown at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Monday evening at Banker's Restaurant.

Robert R. McCoy in introducing the film told the group: "By tradition a New Englander is supposed to possess a nasal twang, a certain suburban pride in his accomplishments and a healthy savings account. These characteristics were not developed overnight. They are the product of twelve generations of resourceful individuals living in the rugged, six-state area of New England, birthplace of many of our forefathers and of the American Revolution. It is no accident, then, the first carrier to operate a mutual life insurance company in the United States was granted in New England in 1835 to the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company."

Guests at the meeting included Rev. William E. Yingling, Hanover; William Flinchbaugh, York, and James Wilson, Gettysburg.

STUDENT FROM JAPAN SPEAKS FOR ROTARIANS

Miss Michiko Ohta, a graduate student of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary, was the speaker Monday evening at the meeting of Rotary at the YWCA.

Students in Japan study harder than students here, because entrance into high school is on a competitive basis, she noted. "We have a large population, we are a poor country, and so there are not enough schools for all on the higher levels. As a result, only those who can pass with the highest marks get into high school, and the competition is even keener to get into the colleges and universities. We have a saying, 'four hours in five hours out,' meaning those students who sleep four hours a night will be able to enter college, those who must have five hours sleep will not have time enough to study to pass the examination to get into college."

"In many schools, because of the crowded conditions, there are two shifts of students, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, so the children have to go to school seven days a week in order to get in all the courses the government wants studied."

English Is Required

"Thousands of children commute to and from school. In a kindergarten I attended that was one of the requirements, that the tiny children had to commute to school by themselves. In a school I attended ten per cent of the children spent at least three hours commuting, and 30 per cent at least one hour to and from school."

"English is a required subject and has been since education was made compulsory in Japan."

"Japan is a small country which is one of the reasons few people have cars. It also has a highly developed system of public transportation which makes cars less necessary."

"Japan was very poor after the war. After all, all of Japan was a battlefield. But the standards of (Continued On Page 6)

Dulles indicated a final decision by Egypt is expected shortly. But when asked if that meant within 48 hours, he said he had no such official information.

COUNTY BOARD "SITS TIGHT" ON PLANS; ELECTS TWO TEACHERS

The Adams County School Board, meeting Monday evening at the office of the county superintendent of schools, Carlisle St., elected two new teachers for the Adams County Day Care Training Center and decided to "sit tight" on its present county plan for future school development.

The new teachers are Mrs. June Ellnor Pieper, 29, 227 Carlisle St., a native of Buffalo, N. Y., a graduate of Capital University, Columbus, O., a former nursery school teacher and for five years a child welfare worker in Erie County, who will receive $4,000 a year, and Mrs. Shirley Louise Smith, 21, 205 Baltimore St., a senior at Gettysburg College, who will graduate there in June. She will receive $3,500 a year.

Decision of the county board to "sit tight" on its present county plan came after four members of the East Berlin School Board appeared with a resolution asking a change in the county plans.

Would Be "Too Small"

The East Berlin board held its resolution that it was "unalterably opposed to entering the Bermudian Springs Jointure, which is called for in the proposed county plan. Richard O. Riggs, president of the board, and other members, held that the proposed joint system including the present North Adams Jointure, Reading Twp. and East Berlin and Coneago Independent school system would be "too small." The East Berlin directors held that the present Coneago, North Adams and Lower Adams joint school systems should be united into one large jointure.

Riggs said: "We know we are going to lose the high school at East Berlin, but we have a school building and we feel that any way we go East Berlin will still be an elementary center. But we also feel that we don't want to go into a system that will be too small. The (Continued On Page 6)

OPEN HALL OF PRESIDENTS TO PUBLIC 3 DAYS

An "Open House" will be held at Gettysburg's newest tourist attraction, the "Hall of Presidents," Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., the owners announced today.

Attorney Eugene R. Hartman is president of the "Hall of Presidents, Inc." William G. Weaver is vice president; Frank L. Bowersox, secretary-treasurer, and Frank L. Bowersox Jr., assistant secretary-treasurer.

Visitors to the "Hall" go in groups through a series of rooms where all 34 presidents are shown in natural size, and in authentic costume. The collection is the only complete representation in the world of all presidents according to the owners. Many of the reproductions are said to have come from wax museums in Europe, noted for their accuracy in detail.

Were Authentic Styles

Each replica of a president, from George Washington to President Eisenhower, stands on the floor and each is the exact height of the man it represents. Each is clothed as he appeared in his public duties.

By using a stereophonic sound process the story of America is told as if related by the presidents themselves. Sound effects are used to effectively give background to the history being told. Each president tells of outstanding events in his regime, and a sound "bridge" is used to direct the tourist to the next president's figure.

Workmen recently completed renovating the former Kissinger home on Baltimore St., near the entrance to the National Cemetery, into the "Hall of Presidents."

grapher who showed pictures he took of injuries to Orndorff; Robert Hull, Littlestown; Donald Gehart, Gettysburg R. 1, and Lawrence Orndorff, Gettysburg R. 5, a first cousin of Kenneth Orndorff.

Orndorff's Story
Lawrence Orndorff said he had met his cousin in the Bonneville hotel about 10 o'clock. They had two glasses of beer together and Lawrence then persuaded Kenneth to go to the Barlow dance. They arrived about 11:15 o'clock and Lawrence started to dance. "We were there about three minutes," Lawrence Orndorff said. "The music stopped and I saw everybody going to the door. I went over, and as I pushed through the crowd I saw Kenneth sort of leaning against a door, with a number of men about him. I went down and asked a fellow what was going on. He said 'I'm taking this fellow to jail.' I asked who he was and he said he was a constable. I asked to see his credentials and he wouldn't show me any. Then Kenneth straightened up and I saw blood on him. I said 'Constable or not this man goes to the hospital.' I took Kenneth and walked him toward my car. We got about halfway and I told him to stay there. I walked back and I didn't know Swisher so I said 'Come on, Bud, you're going along! He came with us and we went to the hospital. There Ken was fixed up. Then state police came and I went to Kenneth's mother.'

Driver Convicted
The jury hearing the Swisher-Orndorff cases includes Melvin L. Boyer, East Berlin R. 2; James Dillman, 125 W. Middle St.; Miss Mildred Hoke, East Berlin; Mrs. Rita M. Kijek, New Oxford; Frank McClellan, Fairfield; Jacob Myers, Hanover R. 4; Jacob A. Nitchman, East Berlin; Charles M. Sanders, 27 South St.; John W. Schwartz, Littlestown R. 1; Clayton Shanbrook, 133 Chambersburg St., and Robert Smith, 209 E. Lincoln Ave.

Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock another jury brought in a verdict of "guilty, but recommend leniency" in the case of driving while under the influence of charge against John Edward Irwin, Pittsburg. Irwin was arrested by borough police near the Veterans of Foreign Wars home, E. Middle St., when, according to Policeman Raymond Menges, Irwin was driving in the middle of the road, blowing his horn, racing his motor, and was found, when interrogated, to have been drinking. Sheriff Dorsey J. Schultz called as a defense witness, said he noted nothing unusual in Irwin's walking or speech when he was brought to jail by the officers.

The Gettysburg Times

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany: Superintendent
Caldwell, of the Water Company, is having four-inch pipe laid along Buford avenue.

The Gettysburg Ice and Storage company has issued coupon books for the convenience of its customer.

During the past week Contractor Wm. H. Johns has had a force of hands at work tearing down the old lodge at the National Cemetery.

Two Adams County Boys Promoted: A. H. Durbrow, of whom mention was made last week and who for the past four years has been chief clerk in the M. W. Dept.
of the Philadelphia Division, Penna.
R. R., has been promoted to chief clerk of the new Grand Division known as the Western Penna.
Division with headquarters at Pittsburgh and assumed his duties
April 20th. He will take with him
Samuel McCullough, a son of Jas.
H. McCullough, Cumberland township, who has been associated with him in this work for several years.

"Half Back Sandy" Well Rendered: The Mask and Wig Dramatic Association of College, gave their annual entertainment at Brue Chapel Monday evening before a crowded house. "Half Back Sandy" was the name of the play.
It is an interesting college comedy in three acts and was exceptionally well rendered, all participating rendering their parts well.

Captain Paul R. Sieber, famous as a halfback, appeared in the title role while the remainder of the cast was composed of 12 characters and included freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors co-eds and professors.

Child Fatally And Father Severely Burned: The little four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stary of Huntington township met a terrible death Wednesday evening.
Mr. Stary conducts a small general store close to Five Points.
A gasoline chandelier is used for illuminating the room and during the evening Mr. Stary was filling the tank of the lamp while the burners were lighted. The tank overflowed, and the fluid flowed down over the child. Like a flash
Mr. Stary and child were enveloped with flames. Several men who were in the store at the time succeeded in smothering the flames with their coats, etc.

The child was terribly burned, and died from its injuries at an early hour Thursday morning. Mr.
Stary was so seriously burned about the arm that it is feared he will never again have full use of it.

The Sick: Miss Alice Busby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Busby, McSherrystown, who was seriously ill from the effects of taking an overdose of medicine, is able to be about again.

H. P. Thorn, afflicted with typhoid fever, is still in a very critical condition.

Mrs. Henry Myers is ill from a second attack of paralysis.

Alfred Slonaker who was stricken with paralysis some time ago was removed to the county hospital on Monday.

Thrown From Buggy: Jaw Broken: William Eckenrode, near Mont Rock, met with an accident.
His horse concluded to run away
when at Lilly's Mill and later colliding with a fence, breaking the occupant to the ground, breaking his jaw bone and otherwise bruising
the unfortunate man. Dr. A. C.
Rice, of McSherrystown, rendered necessary treatment.

Changeable Weather: The weather
the past two weeks has been cold for this time of year. Several days the first of the month the thermometer registered 87 degrees while several days last week you could find it anywhere from 35 to 50 degrees with ice for trimmings.

Commencement Exercises: Biglerville High School commencement exercises were held in St.
Paul's Lutheran church, that place,
Thursday evening.

The meeting was called to order
by Miss Alice Longsdorf and Dr.

Today's Talk

CHRISTOPHER MORLEY

In the death of Christopher Morley the world of letters lost one of its greatest and most gifted members—and all who knew and loved him, a grand and kindly friend. He was novelist, poet, and essayist. As a companion, however, and a lover of all good books, his talk scintillated and inspired as he drew upon his knowledge of great writers from all over the globe.

He was a great breeder of little classics, writing many a one that will long live, like his "Parnassus on Wheels," "The Haunted Bookshop," "Where the Blue Begins," "Tales from a Rolloff Desk," and many another. He was also a genuine poet, and often said that as such he wished to be remembered.
He wrote some fifty books and all are well worth while, for they stimulate and give the reader genuine pleasure.

As a wonderful friend, however,
Christopher Morley will be missed by a multitude of people. He wrote an amusing novel called "Kitty Foyle" that had great popularity, but he insisted it was no more than a "Pot Boiler." He loved to write and his letters, scores of which he wrote to me over the years, I greatly prize, for he couldn't write an uninteresting letter.

As an essayist Morley seemed greatest to me, and he spun them out by the score as easily as an artisan would a beautiful rug. Not in all American literature has anyone written essays so romping, so sincere, and unique. He was a master at it. He had a brilliant mind and it was a joy to meet him for talk, and later to read him in his books.

Christopher Morley will not be forgotten, either by those who knew him or by those who read his books. I never had a better or more stimulating friend. I cherish his memory.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Don't Fight Yourself!"

GOLF RULES
A golfer is a man who'll pay
A pro to teach him how to play;
To cure his drive of hook or slice
He'll take instruction and advice.
But, rare the golfer is, indeed, Who'll think the rules he ought to read.

He learns the sand he mustn't pat
When someone shouts: "You can't do that!"
He gives his ball a little poke
To find that he must add a stroke.
Thus, blundering down the course
he'll go,
Because the rules he doesn't know.

The only rules he knows are those He's learned from bickering friends and foes.

He would be fair, but oft repeats,
Unwittingly, the tricks of cheats.
And thinks it strange a friendship cools
Because he doesn't know the rules.

Yet, books of rules are cheaply had;
To give them out all pros are glad.
Yet, countless golfers seem content
To learn from bitter argument.
Beginning with the statement flat,
Cried angrily: "You can't do that!"

STATE PARDONS BOARD PROBE TO END THURSDAY

HARRISBURG (P)—The legislative committee investigating the State Pardons Board expects to end its inquiry Thursday.

"We have some little matters to look into Thursday and then I can see no reason why the hearings can't be closed for good Thursday night," said Rep. Edwin
W. Tompkins (R-Cameron), chairman. He added that the committee would "finish things up to the satisfaction of all, I think."

Tompkins said he expected that the committee would be read by May 11 to report to the Legislature. The public hearings, extending over seven weeks and sometimes running three days and one night a week, have constituted the longest investigation in the recent history of the Legislature.

What Inmates Think
After an Easter recess, the committee heard testimony yesterday from two prison officials regarding inmate thought about the board and attorneys who appear before it.

Arthur T. Prasse, state commissioner of corrections, said the state's prison population would be badly affected if it came to believe that political influence played a role in board rulings.
"If they ever got the idea political influence could help get a pardon, it wouldn't be good at all," Prasse told the six-member committee.

Impartiality Is Key
He declared that impartiality was the key to the handling of all inmate matters. "If you don't have that," he said, "you have trouble." Present law governing the operation of the board and the state's penal system is sufficient, he said.

"There isn't anything wrong with the laws—it's a matter of enforcing the laws."
He added, however, that the Justice Department was preparing legislation to assist enforcement of present law.

On Darcy Case
The committee, completing its investigation of the commutation granted David Darcy, heard from Prasse that he had allowed Darcy and two companions in the death house to read magazines and some books.

He said these privileges were extended two years after the three were sent to await execution for a 1947 slaying in Bucks County.

The investigation of the board developed from the commutation to life imprisonment for Darcy, Harry Zeitz and Harold Foster.
The Legislature authorized an investigation of board operations dating to 1950.

Wouldn't Change Vote
Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman, chairman of the pardons board, told the committee he would "definitely" vote for commutation of the Darcy death sentence if he had it to do over again.

Henry E. Harner, former secretary of the commonwealth, said also he would take the same action if faced with the same question. Harner was a member of the board at the time of the Darcy recommendation.

The committee took under consideration a plan to allow former Atty. Gen. Herbert B. Cohen, now justice of the State Supreme Court, to submit a statement on his part in the Darcy commutation rather than appear personally before the committee.

Gets Some Statistics
Prasse said that he personally ordered special privileges for Darcy and his two companions after they had been brought to the death house. He said the privileges included reading magazines and books.

William I. Jacks, parole board statistician, said the percentage of "delinquency" among prisoners whose commutations were recommended by the board had dropped almost 50 per cent between 1954 and 1955.

He said the percentage of parole and other violations among pris-

2 EXHAUSTED MINERS FOUND

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (P)—A three-man rescue team found two exhausted miners last night resting at the bottom of a 1,000-foot air shaft some 12 hours after an explosive fire caused by a rock fall blocked off the mine's normal exit.

The two men, Walter Olshefski, 41, a section foreman, and Earl Hill, 33, a fire boss, made their way from the 1,500-foot level at the Glen Alden Corp.'s Inman Shaft, some 200 feet into the tunnel to the air vent before giving in to exhaustion.

Unable to climb the steep slope to the mine cage, they were hauled on a thick plank to the top of the shaft and taken to Community General Hospital. Physicians said they were "in mild shock" but had not been injured.

Russia Warned Britain Before Suez Invasion Of Possible Result

LONDON (P)—Britain disclosed last night Russia warned her before the Suez invasion that such an attack would prompt the Arabs to sabotage the canal, cri-ple Middle East oil lines and unite in holy war. The first two predictions were correct.

Publication of an exchange between Soviet Premier Bulganin and then Prime Minister Eden also revealed the British appeal to the Soviet Union to help in internationalizing the disputed waterway.

Prime Minister Macmillan's office made the hitherto secret letters public barely five hours after the Russians announced they would come out today with the exchanges between Bulganin and French Premier Guy Mollet.

To Block Punch
Britain apparently hoped to take some of the propaganda punch out of what was viewed as a Soviet move to picture Russia as guardian of the Arab world, counter Middle East acceptance of the Eisenhower Doctrine and drive a new wedge between the United States and her two chief allies.

There was no indication in Paris, however, that the French would make public the Mollet-Bulganin exchange.

The exchange began with a letter from Bulganin to Eden Sept.
11, seven weeks before the British-French invasion.

Oners recommended for commutation or pardons by the board dropped from 16.1 per cent in 1954 to 12.1 per cent in 1955. The board was under Republican control in 1954.

Dr. Kenneth E. Taylor, deputy commissioner for treatment in the Bureau of Corrections, said that
"on the whole the board definitely takes into consideration recommendations we make."

Eden also defended the British-
French military measures, which

This letter told Eden military action would result in the sabotage of the canal and oil fields and pipelines in the Arab states.

After the invasion began, Egypt
did sink ships to block the canal.
Syria blew up the oil pipeline from Iraq leading inside Syria and cut the vital flow to Europe.

Bulganin also warned that "all the Arabs would rise in sacred struggle against a foreign invasion." This prediction failed to pan out. Syria, Jordan and Saudi Arabia were bound to Egypt in a military pact but did not come to her rescue.

Times Changed
"It is no longer possible to threaten and brandish weapons," Bulganin wrote. "Times have changed and any military measures can only end in failure."
The Soviet Union cannot stand aside from this question. We wish to warn you in a friendly way as to the dangers which might follow if necessary rudeness is not shown."

Replying, Eden reminded Bulganin that Britain, France and the United States had called an international conference to discuss the canal in response to President Nasser's "provocative and illegal acts." Egypt, he added, had refused to attend.

In another note sent Oct. 6, Eden disputed Russia's claim that the Suez Canal Users Assn. was incompatible with Egypt's sovereign rights.

Defense By Eden
"If the Soviet Union will recognize the legitimate interests of the user countries, and help to achieve a settlement," Eden wrote. "They will make a valuable contribution, not only to peace, but to the improvement of Anglo-Soviet relations."

Eden also defended the British-
French military measures, which

LEGAL BETTING WINS SUPPORT

HARRISBURG (P)—Supporters of a proposed state referendum on legal betting at horse races took an optimistic position at the rail today.

They were encouraged by Sen.
Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) that the proposal, a longshot in other sessions of the Legislature, might have gained in the odds in this one.

The Senate was expected to debate the matter today. Yosko estimated that 20 Democratic votes would be available. On hat basis, Sen. G. Robert Watkins (R-Delaware) predicted that Republicans would provide the six remaining votes needed for Senate approval.

Sees "A Good Run"
"If the Republicans put up enough votes, I think it should pass," Yosko said. "After all, it only gives the people a right to be heard on what they think of horse race betting."

Watkins, a supporter of the proposal and a member of the Senate Law and Order Committee, looked for "a good run."

"If Yosko says there will be 20 Democratic votes, then there shouldn't be any trouble getting six on our side. It looks to me like it will have a good run."

If the Yosko and Watkins figures prove to be accurate, the proposal would be off toward the House. It has failed to come home before.

Bullets To Meet Lafayette Nine Here Wednesday At 3; Two Scholastic Track Meets

Gettysburg College's baseball team plays the first of three home games this week when it tangles with an old nemesis, Lafayette, here Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Georgetown will be here Friday and Dickinson on Saturday.

The Bullets will be out to snap a four-game losing streak against Charley Gilbert's Leopards. Inept pitching has been a thorn in the side of the Bullets to date, much of which can be laid to the inclement weather early in the campaign which seriously handicapped the hurlers from reaching form.

In compiling a 1-4-1 record, the Bullets have given up 47 runs to their opponents while scoring 33.

Walters May Hurl
It is expected that Coach "Hen" Bream will start Buckey Walters, high-handed sophomore, against Lafayette. Walters turned in an impressive performance against Syracuse last week and led 2-1 until weakening in the eighth.

Gelbert, who served as a member of the Bullets coaching staff more than a decade ago, is in his 12th season as baseball coach at Lafayette. Howard Stoneback, a southpaw who won 11 and lost 2 last year, is expected to hurl against the Bullets. The Leopards (2-3) also have the following veterans: Ted Sloan, c; Al Caesar, 3b; Tommy Morgan, 2b; John Sloter and Gordon Brown, outfielders.

Bob Davies' Bullets golf team (3-1) also resumes action Wednesday, meeting Hofstra on the Gettysburg Country Club course.

Triangular Meets
Two triangular scholastic track meets are scheduled for Wednesday. Biglerville will be host to Chambersburg and Waynesboro in a meet starting on the Canner field at 3:45. East Berlin and Big Spring travel to Dillsburg for a triangular affair with Northern Joint.

EAST BERLIN 9 DEFEATS DOVER

Gil Lupp's East Berlin High School baseball team avenged a previous 12-2 drubbing by defeating Dover 5-3 Monday afternoon at Dover. It was the second straight triumph for the Indians who are now 2-3 for the season.

Bill Bowen pitched the entire game for the winners and gave up only five hits. Charley Chronister and Dick Jacobs each rapped a pair of singles for East Berlin.

Today East Berlin entertains Big Spring in a county league game.

ROBINSON IS UNDERDOG FOR FULLMER FIGHT

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson refuses to be drawn into any controversial subject — such as rabbit punching — regarding his rematch with Gene Fullmer.

say about the middleweight champion is that he is "awkward."

Robinson, opening the Chicago phase of his training for the Fullmer scrap at Chicago Stadium May 1, is quiet and unassuming.

No Cockiness Now
Naturally, he thinks he will win. But there is no cockiness or overwhelming confidence that long has been associated with him.

He is a 3-1 underdog. "Fullmer's best offense and defense is his awkwardness," said the 36-year-old Sugar Ray, who will be trying to recapture the middleweight crown for the third time after first winning it from Jake LaMotta at Chicago Stadium in 1951.

"You can't box with this fellow. He keeps his hands up. He is smart enough not to expose himself to get hit. He's very awkward, very unorthodox."

Near End Of Career
"I think I still have the stuff left in me to do the job," he continued in an interview. "But it is possible, maybe probable, that I won't win. Whether I win or lose, I am definitely near the end of my career. That doesn't necessarily mean I'll retire after this one, however."

Robinson was asked about charges that Fullmer was rabbit punching when he defeated Sugar Ray for the title in New York last Jan. 2.

"Rabbit punching? . . . I don't remember anything about it," Robinson said.

OLD TIMER AT 90 SAYS ROCK 'N' ROLL LAZY

MIDDLEBURY, N.Y. (AP)—A man observing his 90th birthday today figures rock 'n' roll is a lazy way to dance. That is, compared with what went on when he fiddled at the hop-picking square dances.

"After a hard day's work among the hops we would start our square dance at about 8 p.m. and keep right on going until the sun came up," says Andrew Moore.

Moore had to learn to fiddle in the woods when he was a boy. His mother believed "the devil was in a fiddle," he recalls.

The annual two-week hop-picking spree in this rural area southwest of Albany now is a thing of the past. Growing of hops, used in making beer and ale, became unprofitable for the farmers about 50 years ago.

The pickers were paid only 30 cents for filling a box, and that took four hours.

But Moore says "the people really didn't pick hops for the money. They came for the fun that everybody had."

Another part Moore says, was picking up a girl and throwing her into the hop box she had been filling. This would compress the hops and make her work all the harder to fill the box.

Moore still fiddles occasionally when his great-grandchildren want to dance on the porch.

FULL-FLEDGED GIANT - PIRATE FEUD BLOOMS

NEW YORK (AP)—The major league season is only one week old but already there's a nice feud brewing between two National League clubs — the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants.

The feud actually began more than a month ago, during the early weeks of spring training, when Pittsburgh manager Bobby Bragan predicted the Giants would finish in last place.

It came to a head yesterday when Bill Rigney, the New York pilot, refused to grant Bragan permission to hold a post-game Pirate practice session and accompanied his denial with several choice words.

Never Refused Before
"The hell with them," was the mildest of Rigney's expletives when he was informed of the Pirate request.

It all came about this way. While Rigney was rejoicing over a 3-1 victory his team had just achieved against the Pirates, he was informed by Eddie Logan, the Giants' clubhouse man, that the Pirates had requested permission to use the Polo Grounds field for a workout.

This was in line with a practice the Pittsburgh club had adopted last year when Bragan replaced Fred Haney as manager. In 1956 the Pirates staged post-game practice sessions at least once in every park in the league, including the Polo Grounds. No club refused them.

To Discuss Flaws
This session usually is conducted by George Sisler, the Hall of Famer, who acts as batting instructor for the Pirates. His job is to accompany the team every day, observe every pitch from a grandstand seat directly behind home plate and jot down his observations. Then, should any of the players request it, Sisler would conduct a post-game batting session, stressing flaws he had observed during the game.

After the game yesterday, two Pittsburgh players — Dick Groat and Paul Smith — requested the extra batting practice and a telephone call was made from one clubhouse to the other asking for the use of the field.

Actually, Bragan had no knowledge of this request since at the time he was appearing as a guest of Frankie Frisch on a post-game television show. Bragan later said, however, he was taking full responsibility.

"Honest Opinion"
Rigney's immediate reaction to the request was a blunt "no."

"He called us the worst team in the league, didn't he?" Rigney growled. "Now he's going to take extra hitting practice. And in our park. Like hell he will. The hell with them. Tell him I said no."

Bragan accepted Rigney's refusal philosophically.

"That's his prerogative in this park," he said. "He can expect the same when he comes to Pittsburgh. I got a feeling he'll need it more than our club needs it."

"So he is nettled because I picked his team to finish last. But I wasn't picking on Rigney and his team. It's too bad he feels that way about it. It was nothing personal. I merely gave an honest opinion."

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Dr. Richard Swann Lull, 89, noted naturalist and geologist, retired director of Yale's Peabody Museum, a former editor of the American Journal of Science, and winner of the Elliot Gold Medal of the National Academy of Sciences, died yesterday.

CAN'T PREVENT PRESSURES ON PARDONS BOARD

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—The head of the Pennsylvania Prison Society says it is impossible to prevent the State Pardons Board from being pressured.

Dr. Negley K. Teeters, a sociology professor at Temple University, made the remark yesterday in a speech before the Welfare Assn. of Erie County and the Erie Chapter of the Pennsylvania Citizens Assn.

He discussed the current investigation of the board by a state legislative committee.

Can't Ban Pressure
"You cannot ban pressure," Teeters said. "Anyway, who can define it? In Democracy, we all have the right to use our influence on behalf of our friends. There's been nothing in the current investigation to indicate graft or dishonesty."

"We can improve the pardons system but it will require much study," he said. "Before we tamper with it, we should consider what we might get as a replacement."

He said he would like to see the Pardons Board representative of both major political parties. He said that under the present state constitution the board is almost automatically dominated by the party in power.

Woman Suffocates When Bed Burns

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Fire in a third-floor rooming house suffocated Miss Helen E. Deuel, 69, in her bed last night.

The Williamsport fire department said the flames were confined to the bed and that Miss Deuel apparently was dead when firemen arrived. She lived in a one-room apartment.

Another third-floor tenant, Leonard Gallagher, discovered the fire and called firemen. Corner Earl R. Miller said Miss Deuel died of suffocation before her body suffered severe burns.

HAYMAKER IS TOSSED BY GOVERNMENT IN IBC BATTLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The government has tossed another haymaker in the second round of its legal battle with the International Boxing Club. The blow is aimed at flattening the giant IBC.

In a proposed decree filed yesterday, the government asked the federal court to dissolve the IBC and force its officers, James D. Norris, president, and Arthur M. Wirtz, vice president, to dispose of their stock and interest in the Madison Square Garden Corp., of which Norris is president.

This decree followed the government's victory March 8 in the first round of the antitrust battle when Judge Sylvester J. Ryan ruled the IBC guilty of monopolizing world championship boxing bouts.

Third Round In May
In answer to the government's recommendations, the IBC and the Garden corporation offered to give up all exclusive contracts with boxers and to limit its promotions of title fights to two a year for a five-year period.

The third round will start May 20 when Judge Ryan will hear oral arguments on the decrees. The case could go ultimately to the Supreme Court.

The government proposed also that Norris and Wirtz resign within 30 days as officers or directors of the Garden corporation, and that the corporation be restrained from promoting or having an interest in the promotion of world title fights as long as it controls the Garden as an arena.

Ask Injunctions
Also proposed was that Norris and Wirtz be enjoined from promoting championship fights as long as either has a financial interest in the Chicago Stadium, Detroit Olympia or St. Louis arena.

In addition, the government asked that the defendants be enjoined from enforcing contracts that would prevent an arena owner or operator from leasing the arena to other persons for promoting boxing.

MORE BIG FIRES AND GREAT LOSS IN LAST YEAR

BOSTON (AP)—Big fires shattered all previous records in numbers in North America last year and registered a new high in dollar losses, the National Fire Protection Assn. reported today.

The association said 430 "large-loss" fires — each causing destruction a quarter of a million dollars or more — occurred in the United States and Canada in 1956 — for a total direct loss of $330,156,000.

The 1956 totals were "excessively" larger than those of previous "worst" years, the association reports in its quarterly magazine for April, published this week.

401 Lost Lives
Of 401 persons killed in large-loss fires, 333 lost their lives in big aircraft fires—accidents, the report said.

The total of 430 big fires exceeds by more than a third the 1955 high of 316 large-loss fires, and the direct dollar loss of last year's big fires is greater by 50 million dollars than the previous record loss of $274,374,500, set in 1953.

The 401 deaths compare with 296 in 1955 big fires.

Pennsylvania Second
Persons injured in other-than-aircraft fires totaled 1,026.

Excluding transportation fires, 304 of the large-loss fires occurred in the United States, and 34 in Canada.

States with the largest numbers were California 26, Illinois and Pennsylvania, 25 each; New Jersey, 23; New York and Ohio, 22 each; and Indiana, 16.

NEW RACIAL ISSUE OPENS

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The lid remained open today on the "Pandora's box" of headaches opened by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce when it inadvertently invited Negroes to a dinner next month honoring "distinguished Virginians."

The fifth Virginia-born Negro to acknowledge an invitation to the widely publicized repast is the Rev. William H. Gray Jr., a native of Richmond and now a prominent Philadelphia clergyman and educator.

May Withdraw Invitation
Gray, pastor of the Bright Hope Baptist Church in Philadelphia and vice president of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches, revealed last night he has written an acceptance to Gov. Thomas B. Stanley, expressing hope that "you will indicate your further interest and desire in having Mrs. Gray and me as your guests on this occasion."

The invitation to Gray, presumably, will be withdrawn, as were those sent by "clerical error" according to chamber officials to other Virginia-born Negroes.

Chamber spokesmen have made it clear, however, that any Negro choosing to ignore the withdrawal will be seated at the dinner and treated "courteously."

The dinner is being sponsored as an adjunct to the 1957 Jamestown celebration.

Redlegs Win First One And Mantle Gets Initial Homer Of Season; Bragan Stirs Feud

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press
The 1957 baseball season has officially opened as far as Birdie Tebbets, Bobby Bragan and Mickey Mantle are concerned.

Tebbetts finally saw his Cincinnati Redlegs post a victory after four straight defeats — a 10-6 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bragan, who speaks his mind with no thought of the consequences, finally succeeded in bringing about a feud between his Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants after his team's 3-1 loss at the Polo Grounds. Bragan, a month ago, prophesied the Giants would finish last.

Mantle, after four homerless games, finally powdered his first four-bagger of the year as the New York Yankees thrashed the Washington Senators 15-6.

Milwaukee, the National League's sole remaining unbeaten team, made it five victories in a row with a 9-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

Clem Labine turned in his third game-saving relief chore this season as the Dodgers whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 5-1.

A's Win Again
Kansas City, which hasn't been able to beat anybody else, gained its third straight success against Detroit 11-7. The A's tied it in the eighth and got four more runs in the ninth off Jim Bunning.

Baltimore beat Tom Brewer for the first time in his career, knocking off the Boston Red Sox 7-5.

Willie Mays hit his third home run in three days to account for all the Giant runs. Hank Bauer hit a grand-slam homer in the Yankees' rout of Chuck Stobbs, an old nemesis, while his mates rubbed it in by pulling off a triple steal.

Reds Club Mizell
The Reds clubbed Vinegar Bend Mizell for four runs in the second inning and added four more off Lindy McDaniel in the third.

Johnny Temple and Ed Bailey cracked three hits apiece to pace the Redlegs' 14-hit assault on six St. Louis hurlers. The Cards chipped in with six errors. Tom Ackert, third of four Cincinnati pitchers, was credited with the victory. Wally Moon, Ken Boyer and Walker Cooper homered for the losers. Stan Musial continued his early spring hitting with four hits to boost his average to .524.

Ruben Gomez turned back the Pirates with six hits for his second victory. After the game, Giant Manager Bill Rigney denied a request by Bragan for his Pirates to hold a postgame batting practice session. Rigney, still rankled by Bragan's crack that the Giants were the worst team in the National League, growled a terse "to hell with them."

18 Tornadoes Batter Three States; Rain Hits Big Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More turbulent weather pounded the storm-battered southern and central plains today after yesterday's eruption of 18 tornadoes in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Severe thunderstorms and heavy rain continued during the night along a 700-mile front. The spring storms reached as far north as central Nebraska and extended southward in a solid line through the central sections of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Damaging wind and hail storms hammered some areas and rain-fall in a six-hour period last night measured more than an inch in many places.

Wet weather was in prospect for most areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast.

5 Times In Kansas
Eight tornadoes were sighted or struck in Texas yesterday, two less than skipped across the nation's biggest state Sunday. Five twisters were reported in Kansas and five in Oklahoma. No injuries were reported in the tornadoes but there was considerable property damage.

The steady spring downpours in Texas appeared to have broken the state's seven-year drought but also have posed new flood threats in some areas.

East of the stormy weather, a smaller squall line brought heavy rain near the Mississippi River in western Tennessee. Showers and light rain fell in most areas east of the Mississippi River, with only New England, Florida and the Gulf Coast states escaping the wetting.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were indicated during the day in most areas east of the Rockies except Florida and New England.

Time To Spray For Spittlebug

With the present warm weather "farmers should be getting a spittlebug spray on alfalfa and clover fields during the latter half of this week," County Agent Frank S. Zettle said today.

He recommended using one quart per acre of Heptachlor 2E emulsion. Other materials recommended in prior years are not recommended this year, he said, because of the possibility of residue appearing in the hay.

Because considerable damage is anticipated from alfalfa weevil on red clover, alfalfa and birdsfoot trefoil, farmers should apply a second spray, using one pint of Heptachlor per acre about two weeks after the first application.

On strawberries spittlebug normally appears at first bloom, which may be delayed where the patches were mulched. A quart of Heptachlor per acre is recommended on strawberries, although a quart of Chlordane per acre may be used.

COUNTY BOARD

Bermudian Springs joint system will not be much larger than what we have now."

"Tried Three Times"
County Board members asked what would happen to a scheduled hearing in York County court May 2 concerning the future of the Coneyago Joint School System, now held together by a court injunction, if the county board changed the county plan to include East Berlin and 13 other districts into one giant jointure. Riggs observed that he supposed the hearing would not be held, that it would be unnecessary.

Luther M. Lady, president of the county board, with the other agreeing, held that the county board "would be willing to go along with one jointure to be made out of the three if the people of the area wanted it that way. But we are anxious only for a workable jointure program down there, and one that will take care of everybody. You ask to be joined with the Lower Adams system if one jointure cannot be made. But if we join you with Lower Adams that will make the North Adams system unworkable. We tried three times to get the boards to agree to one big jointure for all, and each time the majority said they wanted two jointures out of the present three. As a matter of fact the vote was 14 to 2 against one big jointure. If you can go out and sell the idea of one big jointure to the school directors, and have them come in here and say they all want one, and will make it work, then we will be happy to change the plan. But until that time we are not going to change it. We wish you could, we hope you can untie the section into one big jointure. But it will take the agreement of all to make it work."

"We're Buying, Not Selling"
Riggs held "we aren't selling, we're buying" and noted that if need be it was felt East Berlin could "go it alone" with its own school system. Discussion of the proposed integration of Social Security and the state retirement plan, on which teachers will vote in May, brought no decisions.

Concerning the proposed integration plan County Superintendent C. P. Keefer held: "So far we do not have enough information. It would appear that it would be a good thing for those of us who have only a few more years in the profession. We would receive both Social Security and our state retirement payments. Whether it would be a good thing for younger teachers I do not know. As of today I would vote against it. But pending further details on the plan, I don't know whether it is a good thing or a bad thing."

Okay Building Site
Approval was given to a building site or a Menges property for a Coneyago Twp. school.

A bus contract with Paul Wolf, York Springs, to transport 12 children to a special education class at Whitcomb's View School was approved at $2.50 per day.

A report was presented on a survey made by Assistant County Superintendent Francis Coulson of three bus routes for the Lower Adams Joint School System.

Proposed legislation now being studied at Harrisburg affecting schools was discussed by Assistant Superintendent Coulson.

LIVING COSTS UP

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that living costs rose two-tenths of one percent in March to another high. It was the seventh straight month of record costs.

The Labor Department said a slight decline in food prices, mainly for dairy and pork products, was more than offset by increases in all other major groups of consumer goods and services.

ANPA President Declares Inflation Threatens Papers

NEW YORK (AP) — William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., said today the "threat of inflation" has become a "major concern" to the nation's newspapers.

Several other executives joined Dwight in sounding the same warning in talks prepared for the start of the ANPA's 71st convention at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The publishers were to meet in three executive sessions — for newspapers with circulation under 10,000; 10,000 to 50,000; and over 50,000.

Dwight, of the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram, told the under-10,000 group that publishers' problems are becoming "increasingly complex" each year.

Way Of Life At Stake
"The threat of inflation is added to the 1957 list of major concerns," he said. "This system of people's capitalism we have developed in the United States, in fact our way of life, is at stake; and we newspaper publishers must apply our full powers and resources to the cause of halting the trend that can only lead to the destruction of our assets."

"There is no group in the land who can do more to fight inflation," he added. Philip S. Weld of the Gloucester (Mass.) chairman of the session, asked: "When do we go to 7 cents?" "A year from now," he said, "most of us will recognize the nickel newspaper as being as much a thing of the past as the 5 cent 'phone call or the penny postcard."

Vision 10-Cent Paper
"Now is the time to be thinking how we can make our newspapers so vital and entertaining that they're worth 10 cents, not 7."

David B. Lindsay Jr. of the Sarasota (Fla.) Herald-Tribune and Journal told the 10,000-to-50,000 session that publishers face "a constantly rising curve of costs in all the labor and materials that go into our newspapers."

Lindsay, chairman of the session, said the latest NP reports show that average newspaper wages and the cost of newsprint have both increased about 25 per cent since 1950.

High Circulations
ANPA Treasurer Mark Ferree of Scripps-Howard Newspapers, New York, said newspaper circulation and advertising volume are at an all-time high, and "so are wages paid to newspaper employees."

"I am sorry the same cannot be said for publishers' profits," he added. Ferree also said newspapers "still have problems of the public's right to information about public meetings and public records at every level of government." Ferree spoke to the over-50,000 group.

CAIRO (AP)—Cairo radio said today the Cabinet of Jordan Premier Hussein Khalidi had resigned. There was no confirmation from Amman. The radio quoted the Middle East News Agency as saying Khalidi had resigned this afternoon after a meeting with all political party leaders.

AP Board Says Newsmen Should Be Allowed In China

NEW YORK (AP)—The Board of Directors of The Associated Press said Monday "Qualified newsmen should be allowed to report first hand from the mainland of China."

Comment on the State Department's refusal to permit U.S. newsmen to travel to Red China, the board told the annual meeting of members of The Associated Press, worldwide news cooperative.

"The most noticeable gap in our coverage, and one that has caused much controversy, is Communist China."

Have Invitation

"We were invited by the Chinese, along with others, to send a reporter into the country. The United States Department of State refused permission and threatened serious sanctions."

The Associated Press disagreed with the government's action and the board at this time states again that it believes qualified newsmen should be allowed to report first hand from the mainland of China."

The directors observed that, despite the ban, The AP "did get first-hand reporting from China by commissioning a Canadian newspaperman (David Lanchester) to make a tour of the country."

Newsmen Protest
Newsmen have protested that the travel ban infringes on the right of people in the United States to know, through their own reporters, about conditions in China. Secretary of State Dulles said recently that he and President Eisenhower have considered dropping the ban but have failed to find a formula for doing so. Dulles speaks today at the AP's annual luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Presiding at the luncheon and at the AP business meetings will be Robert McLean of the Philadelphia Bulletin, president of the AP.

In its annual report to the members today, the Board of Directors discussed news and photo coverage during the year and said The AP "again" produced a superior news report."

Some Improvements

The directors said, "We have continued to encounter problems on the domestic scene, as well as roadblocks abroad, in the day-by-day efforts to cut through varying kinds of restriction and censorship."

They said there has been some improvement in coverage The AP is allowed to provide from Communist-dominated areas.

"In Poland we again have a regularly assigned staff correspondent" and "in Czechoslovakia, The AP has been able to send in staffers for brief periods," the directors said. There was "no major change" in Russia, where The AP has two regularly assigned correspondents.

"In Best Traditions"

The directors said The AP "has carried an unusually exacting burden of responsibility in reporting the news of the world" and has "discharged its obligations in our best tradition."

Referring to coverage of the presidential campaign and election by the AP members and staff, the report said:

Praise For Members

"The organization's reputation for impartial but hard-hitting reporting, and for fast, accurate counting of the returns was registered and enhanced."

"The election job is a compelling manifestation of the cooperative principle on which The Associated Press was started and on which it thrives."

In praising the cooperation of AP member newspapers, the board said:

"Every day there are examples of cooperative sharing of news and pictures by AP members—members who provide news from far outside their regular territories, who furnish it promptly during hours when they cannot use it themselves, and who go to unusual lengths to see that The AP is covered promptly."

Expansion In Year

Substantial expansion of AP operations during the year was reported.

"News and newspaper services of The Associated Press showed increased participation in more than 70 countries outside the United States," the board said. "The greatest concentration of effort and expansion came in two vital areas—Asia-Africa and Latin America."

The board reported the AP Wirephoto network "maintained its dramatic growth."

"In the last five years," the board said, "the number of newspaper members participating has more than doubled and the growth continues at an accelerated pace."

To Elect Seven

Associated Press members today will elect seven directors and act on membership applications of 17 newspapers.

Terms of six AP directors expire this month. The death last fall of James M. North Jr. of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, whose term would have expired in 1959, caused a seventh vacancy.

Newspapers which have applied for regular AP membership include DuBois, Pa., Courier-Express and Erie, Pa., Morning News and Sunday Times-News.

"IDLENESS"

When men are left unoccupied... their minds are on a shelf... and so indeed they're prone to act... much like a wayward elf... and sooner than you can expect they get into a rut... so evil-doing comes to light... for righteous doors are shut... inactive men are frivolous... for they have naught to do... and life itself becomes a bore... and trouble starts to brew... for idle men get into things that active men would not... and all the good they may possess... will surely go to pot... but occupation forcibly... diverts a worried mind... and men who are industrious... are seasoned to life's grind... and so I bid you one and all... to keep yourselves in swing... for by so doing you will gain... a happy song to sing.

MISSING BOY, 4, FOUND IN ENOLA

HARRISBURG (AP)—A 4-year-old boy, missing overnight, rapped on the door of a neighbor at nearby Enola at daybreak Monday, ending a widespread search for him.

Karl Karrer, cold, hungry and crying, was taken to Harrisburg Hospital where an examination showed his only injuries were scratches on his legs from briars. He was later discharged.

Mildness of the night apparently played a major role in the happy ending of the lost boy search.

Some 1,500 men organized by East Pennsboro Twp. police conducted an all-night search over a 5-mile area for the boy and were

BOAT UPSETS IN SUSQUEHANNA; 2 MEN MISSING

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Two new Cumberland men still were missing Monday, two days after their boat overturned in the Susquehanna River. The wife of one of the missing men was rescued.

Three fire companies and a helicopter from the Olmsted Air Force Base searched all day Sunday for the missing men without results. They were fire units from Middletown, York Haven and Goldsboro.

John L. O'Dowd, 42, and Thomas Airborn, 27, disappeared into the river about 3 p. m. Saturday when their small boat went over the 30-foot York Haven Dam. O'Dowd's wife, Frances, 36, was rescued by Ivan Kopel 17, of York Haven about an hour after the accident.

The search groups reported no further efforts would be made to find the missing men unless state police asked for aid in locating the pair.

Capt. Addison D. Agle, a helicopter pilot at the Olmsted Base, Middletown, said he had searched the river in his craft from the site of the accident to Columbia, about 15 miles downstream, but failed to see any sign of the missing pair.

The fire companies searched the river in the York Haven area with six motorboats throughout Sunday, but also found no sign of the missing men.

Mrs. O'Dowd said she last saw her husband and Airborn as the two men swam toward an island in the river. All three were wearing life preservers when the wooden boat turned over.

WILL NOT WALK PICKET LINE; ATTACK HOUSE

ESSINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Federal mediators tried again Monday to settle the three month-old strike of Linde Air Products Co. employees as violence flared at the home of an Essington plant employee who refused to walk the picket line.

Jars of paint were hurled Sunday at the home of Edward A. Powers, who has been off his job in the distributing division of the Linde plant here since it was struck Jan. 25.

Powers, a member of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers, the union on strike at Linde, says he has refused to do picket line duty because, "I object to violence and there has been plenty of it."

One jar of paint struck the front of the apartment building owned by Powers, just six inches from a casement window opening into the front room of the Powers apartment. Another jar missed the building, leading police to believe they were hurled from a moving car.

Powers told police he had his telephone disconnected about two weeks ago because of repeated calls threatening himself and his family.

The Essington plant of Linde employs about 1,600 workers. About 125 are demanding a 20-cent hourly wage increase among other improvements. The dispute has been in the hands of federal mediators.

ready to start out again when he was found.

The boy was reported missing when he failed to return home at bedtime. He had been playing outside his home.

Chief of Police Charles Laux said the boy talked of sleeping on a back porch and of seeing water snakes during his travels in the nearby woods.

JUDGE SCOLDS HUSKY SLAYER OF TWO WOMEN

NEW YORK (AP)—A husky young mechanic accused of the bludgeon murders of two women showed no emotion as a judge verbally lashed him in court.

Thomas Joseph Higgins, 22, was impassive as he was arraigned on a homicide charge in one of the slayings. His heartbroken fiancée, Ann Elizabeth Tighe sat silently at the rear of the room in Brooklyn Felony Court.

Magistrate Albert D. Schanzer glowered at the blond, 230-pound defendant and said:

"Of all the most gruesome crimes conjured in a girl's hideous dreams, you are charged with the most macabre."

Held Without Bail

Higgins was held without bail for a hearing today. Meanwhile, police asked the Army for medical reports on the 6-foot-2½ Higgins. His father has said he had a brain operation while serving with the Army in Japan and had a history of fits before that.

Police nabbed Higgins Saturday on a tip from a man who lived in the same apartment building in the Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn. Higgins quickly confessed, police said, to the hammer slaying of pretty Patricia Ruland, 19, in the back seat of his car last Wednesday night. They said he also admitted bludgeoning Mrs. Dorothy Campbell, 59, to death in the back seat of her car last Jan. 29.

Assaulted 9 Others

He told police he was engaged in peeing parties with each woman and when they resisted further advances he struck them, detectives said.

"Attacking these girls was an outlet for myself," he was quoted as saying.

Higgins, an oil burner serviceman, also reportedly admitted assaulting nine other women in Brooklyn.

INTERFERENCE
BY WEST DENIED
IN JORDAN AREA

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Premier Hussein Khalidi has rejected charges of Western interference in the internal affairs of unsettled Jordan.

Obviously speaking to Egypt and Syria as well as to the Jordan army's two fugitive chiefs of staff, Khalidi said such charges "caused confusion and have been used in a way contradictory to the best interests and security of this faithful country."

The Premier urged the Jordan people to ignore rumors and called on other Arab countries to use caution in their comments "until things have taken their normal course."

Denounces Officers
(An official source in Baghdad denied reports from the Egyptian Middle East News Agency that Iraqi forces had taken up positions near El Mafrag, where Syrian troops are stationed inside Jordan. An Israeli Foreign Office spokesman expressed doubts concerning the Cairo report, but Israeli intelligence sources in Tel

Walker II, Lumber St., and the former Mrs. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield A. Lipsey, and family, Patrick Ave.

Easter Day visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Snyder, Prince St., were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Snyder, and children, Joyce, Leah and Darrell, York. The annual banquet of the Degree Team Association of Littlestown Castle No. 31, Ancient Order Knights of the Mystic Chain will take place on Wednesday, 6:30 p.m., in St. Mary's Lutheran parish hall, Silver Run.

Announces Drama
The Rev. Porter W. Seiwel, president of the Littlestown Ministerium, has announced that Hugh Marlowe and Pat Hogan co-star in the true drama of a Protestant missionary and a young Indian who restore tribal lands to Winnebago Indians of Wisconsin and bring them faith, modern ways and education in "Jhonakehunga—Called John," on the "Crossroads" series, Friday (ABC-TV, 8:30-9 p.m.).

Marlowe portrays the late Rev. Jacob Stucki of the Evangelical Reformed Church who spent 46 years with the tribe, helped them regain their ancient lands, translated the Bible into their tongue and built the Winnebago Indian Mission in the 1880's near Black River Falls, Wis.

Hogan plays the young Winnebago nicknamed "John," an early convert who risked the almost fatal scorn of his father, Chief Black Hawk, and the tribe to teach the new faith and ways.

Aviv said 2,000 Iraqi troops had moved up to the Jordan border.) Speaking up for the pro-Western leanings of his government, Premier Khalidi denounced statements by Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Hayari and Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar. The two officers, both former chiefs of staff, have fled to Syria.

Reports from Damascus quoted Nuwar as saying that the U.S. Embassy in Amman had put "strong pressure" on him to head a military government in Jordan "provided I accept the Eisenhower Doctrine."

Tells Of Plotting
Hayari, who served only two days as chief of staff after taking over that post from Nuwar, told a news conference in Damascus Saturday palace officials and foreign non-Arab military attaches in Amman had plotted against Jordan's independence.

Khalidi termed both statements unfortunate. He did not, however, refer directly to a charge by Foreign Minister Suleiman Nabulsi, who said "certain foreign diplomatic missions" had interfered in Jordan's internal affairs.

Correspondents were ordered by the government to submit all stories and messages dealing with military matters for censorship.

Army Confined
An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman in Jerusalem said last night most of Jordan's 20,000-man army has been confined to barracks for the past two or three days. The action was taken, he said, because of a fear of disloyal units, to keep them away from the masses and to keep a check on officers.

The spokesman, who told a news conference the information was based on independent advices reaching his government, said King Hussein "has not yet got complete control" of the army. He said the British-trained force still does not have a commander, but that Hussein seems to be in a much stronger position.

Cairo Dispatch
A dispatch from Cairo said anti-Western elements in Jordan are making an indirect attack on the young King by accusing the U.S.

WOULD SHIFT
FOREIGN AID
TO STATE DEPT.

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) proposed today that administration of foreign aid be shifted to the State Department and put in charge of a new under-secretary for economic affairs.

Mansfield, the Senate's acting Democratic leader, also called in an interview for transfer of the United States Information Agency to State and its operation under the direction of the assistant secretary for public affairs.

Mansfield made these proposals after Secretary of State Dulles appealed yesterday for public support to preserve the administration's foreign military and economic aid program from those with "a zeal to economize."

Doubts Effect
Dulles made this obvious reference to economy advocates in Congress in a foreign policy review before the annual Associated Press luncheon in New York.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), like Mansfield a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he doubts Dulles' appeal will have much effect on economy-minded members of Congress.

"I am going to vote for a great many budget cuts," he said. "We will have to see how the foreign aid program is presented before we can determine what we are going to do about it."

Mansfield said, "It is not only league with "palace elements." The dispatch said Hussein is believed to favor acceptance of the Eisenhower Doctrine for halting further Communist penetration of the Middle East in the hope of getting sufficient economic aid to meet Jordan's pressing financial problems. Pro-Egyptian nationalists fear acceptance of the doctrine would tie Jordan to the West much as Iraq is linked with the West in the Baghdad Pact.

good economy but good business and good logic to bring about a consolidation of the subsidiary arms of foreign policy with the main stem in the State Department so the country can speak with one voice in that field."

Administration, headed by John Hollister, now operates as an independent agency under State Department policy guidance.

Bob Grieve has coached Syracuse University cross-country teams for the past 11 years.

ORDERS RAIL SPAN REBUILT

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Utility Commission yesterday ordered reconstruction of the Mulberry Street Bridge over the Pennsylvania and Reading Railroad tracks in Harrisburg at a cost of $1,360,000.

The commission, sustaining a complaint by the city of Harrisburg, ruled the bridge is "dangerous and in need of reconstruction." The improvements were ordered completed by July 1, 1958, but the commission indicated the bridge will be ready for unlimited traffic by end of the year.

The commission made this allocation of the cost of reconstruction: State Highways Department, $418,000; Pennsylvania Railroad, $377,000; city of Harrisburg, $267,000; Dauphin County, $171,000; Reading Railroad, $120,000, and $6,900 to the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. for relocating lines.

Cus D'Amato, manager of new heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson, has sold his entire stable of preliminary fighters.

LOOK FOR TAX CUT: MARTIN

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—House Republican Leader Joseph Martin says Americans "can look forward to a reduction" in their taxes next year.

But a tax cut is unlikely this year, he said last night at a dinner of the Rensselaer County GOP Committee.

Martin steered clear of Democratic predictions that Congress will reduce taxes, to take effect Jan. 1.

"People know from past experience," he said, that Republicans carried out tax reduction promises in the 80th and 83rd Congresses "in the face of a Democratic tax-boasting binge that lasted for over a decade."

The GOP chieftain blamed demands for new services from "the home folks" for high taxes and the big government budget, which he termed "too high."

The budget "can and will be reduced substantially," he said.

James MARLOW Reports
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the frequently asked questions in Washington is: "What do you think President Eisenhower's place in history will be?"

His rating among the Presidents will probably be determined more by what he manages to achieve in foreign policy than by anything in sight for him to do at home.

Some of his critics get impatient because he does not take a tougher, or harsher, line with the Russians and because he insists on exhausting every reasonable means of dealing with Egyptian President Nasser.

But it is right here — in his policy of patience — that history may make the final determination on whether he was truly wise.

Patience Pays Off

When he took office Asia was on fire. The fire is still there but the flame has died down. It can hardly be said his policy of restraint had nothing to do with that.

When the blaze shifted to the Middle East, he seemed to have a choice: crack down on Nasser or try to sweat it out. He might, by being rough, have won the skirmish with Nasser. But it might have antagonized the Arab world and opened it to Russia. The end result would have been a colossal defeat.

By patience, by an attitude of understanding for the new nationalism of the Arabs and their immaturity as only recently independent people, he may yet save the Middle East from communism.

True Value Unknown

But all this is in an evolutionary state.

The true value of what he has done in the foreign field — good or bad — may not show up for years after he steps out of the presidency.

It is only now that President Truman's vigor, vision and decisiveness are beginning to be appreciated. The steps he took to hold Russia by containment are not only accepted by Eisenhower but are being pursued by him.

At home Eisenhower is trying to lead the Republican party toward a more liberal course. He himself has not gone beyond the New Deal and "Fair Deal."

He has pretty much accepted both, adopted them, and is now trying to extend them.

Both deals are so much a part of American life — with broad benefits for so many people — that if Eisenhower had shown signs of wanting to undo them in 1952 and 1956 he probably would not have been elected either time.

The philosophy of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower can be boiled down to this: they believed the government has a responsibility for the welfare of the people.

Has "Tape Pals" In Many Countries

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Donald Williamson and her distant friends have pulled a switch on the old "pen pal" practice. They use magnetic tape. She exchanges tape-recorded conversations with — among others — a French family, a Japanese doctor, an English nurse, a Swiss dentist and a Houston short story writer.

Ordered Kitten And "Gift Wrapped"

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals says a woman called at one of its pet adoption centers just before Easter and said she wanted a just-so kitten for a present. When she found one that suited her she said brightly, "Please, gift-wrap it for me."

AIR FORCE TO TEST MISSILES IN FEW MONTHS

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is moving into the flight test phase of its ballistic missile program and expects to begin launching virtually complete versions of weapons in the months just ahead.

The missiles to be tested are what designers describe as "production configurations." They are turned out on mass production facilities instead of being hand-built, and lack only some of the detailed equipment which will go into eventual fully operational use by ballistic missile squadrons.

First of the full-scale test firings, at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., probably will be that of the Thor intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM). It is to be followed by tests of the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) and then of the second ICBM design, the Titan.

A vast amount of preliminary testing of parts already has been done, including not only rocket engines but gyro controls, nose cones and guidance equipment.

Experts say that the first test

Letter to the Editor

The Editor of The Gettysburg Times Gettysburg, Pa.
Dear Sir:

I would like to tell the people of Adams County about the facilities that are available at the Warner Hospital to anyone who is sick or injured.

In the first place, let me tell you about the personnel. The doctors are about the best in the country, efficient and thorough. When brought here, you are quickly given relief. All of the finest equipment just ahead.

The firings of the ICBM will not necessarily involve attempts to reach the full 5,000-mile range south-eastward into the Atlantic.

To attain a 5,000-mile range, it is estimated that the speed of an ICBM must be between 15,000 and 16,000 miles per hour. A somewhat slower speed is required for the 1,500-mile range of an IRBM.

Over 300 Miles
Depending on the range desired, a ballistic missile may be sent up to a trajectory peak of between 300 and 800 miles above the earth.

One Air Force missile official expressed today "complete confidence" in the success of the ICBM project.

There is, he said, "no fundamental engineering problem," but only the task of integrating into a single missile a whole series of complex components.

is at your disposal and the most competent of nurses headed by supervisor of nurses, Mrs. Pauline Mowery. Mrs. Delp has the pleasant task of training the new nurses, the practical nurses, until they no longer need her constant assistance.

Also available to patients are the new types of medicines, oxygen, and new drugs — all for John Q. Public. Mr. John Q. have you ever stopped to consider how many times a nurse makes a trip to your bedside when you are a patient in any hospital? She administers kindness, too, and seems interested in everyone's welfare. Her patience cannot be duplicated anywhere and each new case is a challenge to her.

Faithful Nurses
Most of the nurses here at the Warner Hospital are married with responsibilities of their own homes and families but they come here each day or night with a smile. There never-ending politeness and consideration is something to behold.

And now about food. The kitchen is run by an able supervisor, Mrs. Jarvis, and I would like to tell you about the different types of menus and diets that must be prepared every day. The kitchen staff must get here in the wee hours of the morning. There are special diets, general diets, diabetic types, low calorie diets and many others.

The ambulance is manned by your friend and neighbor, Mr. Topper, who seems to be known by everyone around these parts. He'll quickly whisk you from an overturned auto, fire or some other type of catastrophe to this wonderful place. A snack bar is conducted by volunteers for those who visit the hospital and bring around to each room supplies like writing paper, candy and extra ice cream for those who can eat it; coffee for those who can drink. There is a library, too, with books for patients to enjoy.

Each patient gets the same treatment from the doctors no matter what his station in life.

There may be rumors to the contrary but the purpose of this letter is to spread good reports about the Warner Hospital. The writer is a patient there with a twisted knee cap, broken toe and badly sprained left hand and forearm.

Get behind your hospital! Give it your moral and financial support. You that have spare time find out if you can help in some way. Give of yourself for so fine an institution manned by your friends and neighbors.

Sincerely,
A. A. Hansen

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. (AP)—Dr. James W. Kennedy, 87, nationally famous abdominal surgeon, former president of the American Assn. of Gynecologists, Obstetricians and Abdominal Surgeons, and chief surgeon of the Joseph Price Memorial Hospital in Philadelphia from 1911 until his retirement in 1950, died yesterday.
